

Interior Designer and Ministry Leader Shows Women How to Trust God's Perfectly Crafted Plan

Whether watching HGTV or scrolling through Pinterest, we see well-designed houses and perfectly staged rooms and think how nice those must be. But what happens when we look around and see a life we did not design? In A Redesigned Life: Uncovering God's Purpose When Life Doesn't Go as Planned, experienced interior designer and Bible teacher Tracy Steel uses six home-design principles and biblical truths to guide readers to trust God and experience lasting contentment.

Drawing from design principles such as movement, contrast, and pattern, Steel offers frustrated and discontented women the assurance that God is their ever-present, caring Designer. "God's movement in our lives is purposeful and perfectly timed. He's in the business of turning people who are discarded, misunderstood, and overlooked into accepted, known, and celebrated masterpieces."

About the Author

Tracy Steel graduated from Kansas State University with a BS in interior design in 1998 and has a master's degree in biblical and theological studies from Phoenix Seminary. As a project designer, Tracy created and coordinated the design and space planning of commercial spaces for clients such as Bank One, Wells Fargo, Express Scripts, DHS, and Lockheed Martin. Moving from one type of interior design to another, Tracy then worked in full-time youth ministry, serving as the director of female students at Scottsdale Bible Church. God's true design for Tracy now involves improving the interior space of the hearts and minds of women around her. Currently stationed in Washington, DC, this military wife and mother of two enjoys linking up with other bloggers, leading Bible studies at her local church, and speaking at various moms' groups and women's ministries events nationwide. She is also the author of Images of His Beauty, a 10-week Bible study for young women that focuses on identity, overcoming and healing through Christ, and bearing the image of Christ.
